TITLE: Gang and security threat group (STG) records

DATES: 1994-

ARRANGEMENT: Alphabetical by offender last name

ANNUAL ACCUMULATION: 6.00 cubic feet.

DESCRIPTION:

These records contain information on inmates who are known to have gang and/or security threat group (STG) affiliations. They are used to provide both background information to assist in the management of these inmates and to document any evidence of continuing gang and/or STG affiliation. This information is also maintained for correctional facility security purposes and as an information resource for other law enforcement agencies. Each file contains identifying information about the inmate and gang/STG affiliations. May also contain sociological background information, documentation of incidents of violence or conspiracy that have been investigated and intelligence information about real or planned activities.

TITLE: Incident reports

DATES: 1986-

ARRANGEMENT: Chronological by date of incident

ANNUAL ACCUMULATION: 1.00 cubic foot.

DESCRIPTION:

These reports document incidents which occur within the facilities. Reports may involve staff members or security violations involving non-individuals. Examples of security violations would include doors ajar, missing kitchen knives, etc. Incident reports involving inmates are retained permanently as part of the inmate jacket. Incidents involving staff members which result in disciplinary action, worker's compensation, etc. would be maintained in the appropriate file for the approved period as indicated by the 1997 State Agency General Records Retention Schedule. Information includes date, time, name of individuals involved, names of witnesses, description of incident or security breach, location of incident or security breach, action taken or recommended, etc.

TITLE: Inmate classification files

DATES: 1987-

ARRANGEMENT: Alphabetical by inmate name.

ANNUAL ACCUMULATION: 12.00 cubic feet.

DESCRIPTION:

These are records of inmate classification. When an inmate comes to the prison he goes through R & O (reception and orientation) and, after evaluation during this period, is assigned a classification. This determines where the inmate will be housed. His first evaluation comes after 1 year. Then he is evaluated every 9 months, then, depending on his targeted parole date, every 6 months, then 3, then once per month on his last 3 months before parole. There are five levels of classification. They are based on personality, psychological evaluation, temperament, and so forth. The classifications can change or be challenged. These files reflect this process. The file includes criminal history checklist, life history form, AIMS (Adult Internal Management System) form, and may contain a number of reassessment forms.

TITLE: Inmate grievance files (level one)

DATES: 1987-

ARRANGEMENT: Chronological

ANNUAL ACCUMULATION: 15.00 cubic feet.

DESCRIPTION:

These records document the efforts at resolving grievances filed by inmates at the prison, at the housing unit level. Through this process the prison gives the inmates a way to have their complaints heard. Authorities at the prison seek to resolve the complaints by investigation and appropriate action if necessary. The files consist of memos from inmates, subsequent correspondence relating to grievance, investigative notes, and the results of investigations.

TITLE: Inmate grievance files (levels two and three)

DATES: 1987-

ARRANGEMENT: Chronological

ANNUAL ACCUMULATION: 9.00 cubic feet.

DESCRIPTION:

These records document inmate grievances that are being appealed by inmates to the Division of Prison Operations. The records consist of memos and correspondence relating to the grievance, investigative notes, reports of findings, information about the identity and location of grieving inmate, date of incident or issue, and date of decision.

ARRANGEMENT: Numerical by inmate number.

ANNUAL ACCUMULATION: 8.00 cubic feet.

DESCRIPTION:

These case files document the prison history of an inmate while incarcerated at a facility of the Utah State Prison system. The inactive records are maintained in office for two years after the inmate is released because of the high rate recidivism (84% within 2 years). The records are also used by the courts, social service representatives, and law enforcement officials for research into the criminal history of individuals in their care, and for background information for investigations. Files include commitment papers, admittance and assessment records (face sheet), Parole Board results, incident reports, contracts, treatment plans, pre-release agreements, detainers, disciplinary reports, educational and work records, correspondence, CCC reports, and presentence investigations.

TITLE: Inmate request for appointment with civil/criminal attorney files

DATES: 1986-

ARRANGEMENT: Numerical by reference number, year, and month sequentially.

ANNUAL ACCUMULATION: 2.00 cubic feet.

DESCRIPTION:

These records are generated by inmate requests to see and attorney. The files include inmate name and number, date of request, inmate's housing location, inmate's employment location, dates (form was received, forwarded, and returned), status of appointment (seen, rescheduled, moved, cancelled, etc.), date signed, and signatures of inmate and attorney.

APPRAISAL:

These records have administrative, and/or legal value(s).

These files have administrative value because they are used to follow up on an inmate's request to see an attorney. They also have primary legal value because they may be used for litigation support in case charges are brought by inmates against the agency for violation of their civil rights by denying them access to an attorney. These records can be destroyed after 2 years because the statute of limitations for actions against a public officer is 2 years as stated in the Utah Code 78-12-28(1) as well as for actions regarding "injury to the personal rights of another as a civil rights suit under 42 U.S.C. 1983" [Utah Code 78-12-28(3)].
