TITLE: Civil registers of actions

DATES: 1891-1986.

ARRANGEMENT: Numerical by case number.

DESCRIPTION:

Civil cases document the legal process and the administration of justice in conjunction with civil proceedings for the determination of a controversy between parties wherein rights are enforced or protected, or wrongs are prevented or redressed. Records and documents pertaining to a particular civil action are filed together by the court clerk and collectively these documents constitute the case file. As these records or actions are filed, the clerk enters them in the registers which comprise this series. The clerk is required as documents enter the case file to make a notation that shows "the nature of each paper filed or writ issued and the substance of each order or judgment of the court and of the returns showing execution of process. The notation of an order or judgment shall show the date the notation is made. When trial by jury has been properly demanded or ordered the clerk shall enter the word 'jury' on the page assigned to that action" [UCA 79 (b) (2)].

A register of actions may contain the following entries for each civil case: name of the attorney for plaintiff and defendant, name of the judge presiding over the case, petitions, complaints, summons, answers to summons, orders from the court, assignment of judges, exhibits, judgment, findings and conclusions, costs, decrees, requests by attorneys for instructions to the jury, verdict, motions for cross complaints or new trials, amendments to previous answers and disclaimers.

TITLE: Criminal registers of action

DATES: 1896-1986.

ARRANGEMENT: Numerical by case number, thereunder chronological by date.

DESCRIPTION:

Traditionally district courts, including Seventh District Court (San Juan County), created a register of actions for each criminal case heard before the court. The register commenced when the accusation was filed, and thereafter the court listed each action until the case was dismissed or resolved with a conviction or acquittal. For each case the court clerk identified the defendants, the crime of which he was accused, a court assigned case number, and the names of representing attorneys. For each action the clerk listed the type of action taken and the date on which that action was taken. Registers of action are case summaries which provide reference to additional records. Court assigned case numbers listed in the registers are a guide to case files which contain all of the important documents related to the case.

Probate record books contain the details of proceedings in estate and guardianship cases. Personal name change cases may also appear. For deceased persons, the will, appraisals and inventories, and the settlements are recorded. For guardianships, the appointment of a guardian and frequently an account of some property are noted. Adoption records give the full order of adoption, often with statements from both the natural and adoptive parents or a social service agency detailing circumstances of the adoption. The county probate court was responsible for the proceedings of these cases until statehood (1896), at which time the probate court was dissolved and the district court assumed the responsibility.

TITLE: Probate registers of action

DATES: 1888-1986.

ARRANGEMENT: Numerical by case number, thereunder chronological by date.

DESCRIPTION:

Traditionally district courts, including Seventh District Court (San Juan County), created a register of actions for each probate case heard by the court. Probate cases include the distribution of estates for diseased persons, guardianships for minors and incompetent adults, adoptions, name changes, and insanity cases. The register commenced when an executor or interested party filed a petition with the court. Thereafter the court listed each action until the case was resolved by a decree of distribution in the case of estate settlements, a dismissal of guardian for guardianship cases, or the finalization of an adoption. Actions listed might have included such things as filing petitions or other documents, setting dates for hearings, and court orders of various types. For each case the court clerk identified the relevant name and type of case, whether guardianship, adoption or estate settlement. Registers provide court assigned case numbers. For each action the clerk listed the type of action taken and the date on which that action was taken. Registers of action are case summaries which provide reference to additional records. Court assigned case numbers listed in the registers are a guide to case files which contain all of the important documents related to the case. The list of dates for actions provides reference to court minute books and record books which contain summaries of court actions and copies of important documents.
